DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 1-5 and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Applicant's Admitted Prior Art (AAPA) in view of JP02001102323A and in view of US20020069966A1 to Elliott et al. AAPA describes (Specification pages 1-4, Description of Related Art) well known apparatus for laser annealing amorphous Si thin film and describe an excimer laser apparatus. JP02001102323A describes (English language Abstract) laser annealing amorphous semiconductor film and describe feedback control in real-time for modifying magnitude of laser intensity. Elliott et al describe ([0022],[0072]) the use of apparatus modules which are moveable relative to the substrate. The use of the particular apparatus components disclosed in JP02001102323A in the old and well known laser annealing apparatus disclosed in AAPA would have been obvious at the time applicant's invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art because both well known apparatus are used in film annealing and because JP02001102323A discloses improved measuring accuracy with particular feedback control components. Building the apparatus using modules is old and well known as disclosed by Elliott et al and the use of modules in the AAPA and JP02001102323A apparatus would have been obvious at the time applicant's invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art because modules provide building block assembly and or replacement of desired apparatus.

Claim 6 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Applicant's Admitted Prior Art (AAPA) in view of JP02001102323A and in view of US20020069966A1 to Elliott et al as applied to claim 5 above, and further in view of USPN 6,875,950 to Naumov et al. Naumov et al describe probe features (column 17, lines 18-50) and the use of probe apparatus in place of a measurement mechanism, as disclosed by JP02001102323A, would have been obvious at the time applicant's invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art because probes provide building block type measurement apparatus.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
